2014 Election Results

Simi Valley School Board:

Although the final results have not been certified yet, Bill Daniels and Scott Blough are the unofficial winners of the Simi School Board election:

Bill Daniels	20.44%	7,422 votes
Scott Blough	18.79%	6,825 votes
Elaine Litster	18.00%	6,535 votes
Jeanne Davis	16.96%	6,160 votes
Josie Hirsch	16.03%	5,822 votes
Daniel Ratner	9.45%	3,430 votes

SEA congratulates Bill Daniels and Scott Blough for their school board victory and look forward to developing a working relationship with both of them. Our goal is always to work cohesively with school board members and the district to promote our quality programs and educators.

Important Victory for Public Education:

Tom Torlakson was re-elected to State Superintendent of Schools which was a big win for public educators. Torlakson will continue to support learning over testing and professional development for all educators as we implement the Common Core Standards and the Local Control Funding Formula.

Other SEA News:

Now that the election is over, we will be focusing on bargaining with the district. SEA and the District will be in full contract negotiations after the holidays. All contract articles will be open for discussion and we will be surveying our members for your input. Once again, we will be using personal emails in our surveys and your SEA reps will be asking you to verify the email information currently in our database. More information to follow.
